

GLEN HARRIS

Glen Harris is a master teacher and coach who brings infectious enthusiasm, passion, and a distinct spark to every class. Beginning his classical ballet training at age seven, Glen's impressive career spans both New Zealand and the international stage. His experience ranges from performing lead roles in world-renowned productions to choreographing across a multitude of genres.

With a career spanning over 50 years, Glen offers a wealth of knowledge in classical technique and theatrical performance. He is known for his youthful, vivacious energy and a teaching style that is as educational as it is light-hearted. Whether leading professional workshops or his popular adult programmes, Glen's approach remains grounded in a deep understanding of the art of dance.
